OUTSOURCED PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT

“Dynamic Product for the Dynamic Industry”

Dhii offers end-to-end product lifecycle services that can help an Independent Software Vendor take their product(s) through its complete lifecycle. A typical product goes through conceptualization, refinement of the product idea, and realization of the idea into a full-fledged product, advancement of the product, and thereafter implementation and support of the product in the market.

Maintaining the product and generating next versions also become valuable activities at a certain stage of the product lifecycle. Dhii has the necessary experience to work with ISVs and take a product through its full life-cycle.
